

PEACE THROUGH BUSINESS®

IEEW believes that when women are allowed to participate equally and fully in business, then that country has a much greater capacity for economic stability and peace. Peace through Business® trains women entrepreneurs in war torn countries in basic business practices, then goes a step further by providing mentorship with American women business owners.

These courageous women spend 3 weeks in class learning business basics through a entrepreneurial University, then take that information and transfers it into 'real' life through mentorship.

It is incumbent upon these women to then 'pay forward' their education to other women in their country to spread the light of entrepreneurship and democracy. You can find the IEEW institute in this website.
